When venturing into film-making and acting careers which are by nature uncertain, it is better for aspiring filmmakers to keep back-up career options ready, said national award-winning actor Kriti Sanon today.

She further added that her film 'Mimi' was the boldest choice that she had made in her acting career so far and that, that risk paid off well when she won the National Award for Best Actor (female) for that movie. She was speaking in a Panel discussion on the topic of 'Empowering Change: Women Leading the Way in Cinema' at Kala Academy, in Goa today. The 'In-conversation' session was organized on the sidelines of IFFI, 2024.

"I was advised against selecting this film (Mimi) by many people. They were afraid that I will be given the label of an actor who prefers art house films and it hat it would affect the other projects coming my way. Still, I chose it because the script touched my heart. And this factor should matter most while choosing projects", Ms. Sanon opined. She also expressed her desire to play a superwoman character and any character in a negative role in the future.
